

Watermarks

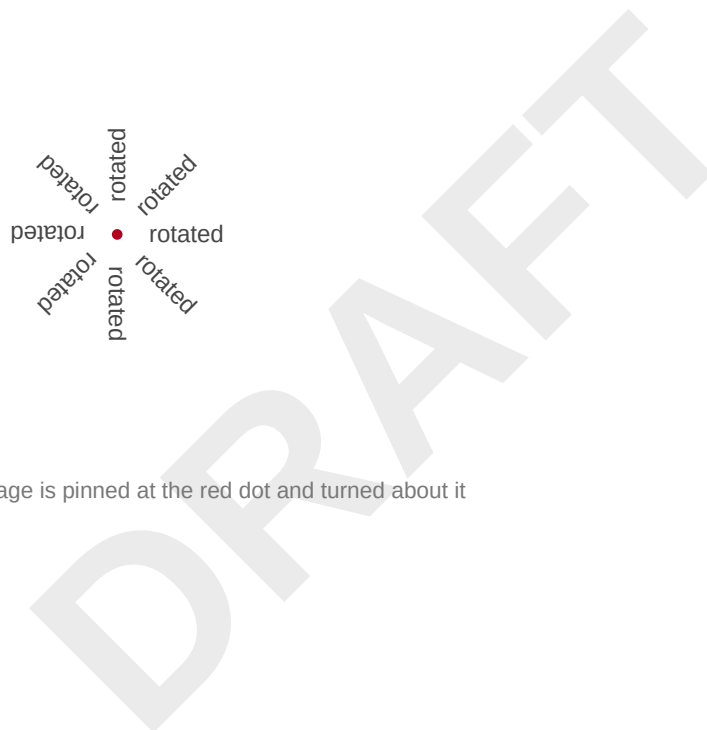

Rotation and constant alpha — what DRAFT across a page is made of.

A watermark says this copy is not the record. It is drawn behind the content by default, because a mark over a total is a mark that costs a phone call — pass ``over: true`` for VOID, where obscuring the document is the point.

The two primitives under it

`transparent(_)` — a graphics state, so the same value is named once however often it is used

`rotated(by:around:)` — the page is pinned at the red dot and turned about it